Can a vegan diet cause lupus patient to go into remission?

Yash vardhan

The scientific evidence on the role of diet in autoimmune diseases such as lupus is just becoming available. I am a believer that a plant-based diet is helpful in promoting overall health and decreasing the chemicals that cause inflammation. I advocate a -based diet along with a very low-fat diet. You have to recall that French fries are vegan but they are not exactly healthy.

EMERGENCY REMEDIES

MediFast provides its users all the necessary information about first aid which they can provide to patient before help arrives.

This information is constantly updated by doctors all around the world to keep users updated with time.

EMERGENCY REMEDIES

EMERGENCY REMEDIES

Do These Basics Until Help Arrives

1. Heart Attack/Chest Pain

Treatment within the first 90 minutes of a heart attack dramatically increases the chances of survival. Before the person reaches a hospital, an aspirin tablet can lower the risk of clot formation. Seat the patient in a comfortable position. If breathing isn't normal or the patient is unresponsive, hands-on CPR (Cardiopulmonary resuscitation) may be applied, to double the chances of survival.

MARKET VALUE

- Collaboration with Hospitals to increase their business value and thus getting a fixed share for every appointment or medical admission users makes through our site.
- Collaboration with Ambulance caretakers for mutual growth and a fixed share of their profits.
- Ads on our site will also be adding to financial aids.
- Hospitals promotion on our sites will be paid where newer or existing hospitals will be able to promote their brands and products.
- Social Welfare is also a consideration for us.

Future Prospects

- A lot of things could further be implemented in this application. First, we can implement authentication for users where after sign-in they would be able to save their medic history.
- A simple fitness test could also be designed for the user responses and accordingly, we could render customized suggestions to users.
- With the data of users, it would be really great to implement an ML model which would look for patterns in the data of users and predict diseases if any.
- We could also use the application as a way to spread awareness among people.

CONCLUSION

MediFast aims to provide people with a platform where they can take appointment to doctors, call Ambulance in a quick note, share and gain knowledge and be updated with time regarding medical Field. And all this in an online mode so there is no hustle and wastage of time and people can get info in a fast and efficient manner.
